Nominate your heroes today!

Since 2007, IHA's Hospital Heroes program has celebrated employees who have acted courageously in a moment's crisis or who have selflessly served their hospitals and communities throughout their careers. Last year, IHA recognized all hospital employees for their heroic efforts during the COVID-19 pandemic and in response to the derecho windstorm in August 2020. For 2021, IHA will return to recognizing 10 hospital employees at the Annual Meeting who exemplify the passion and purpose of the community hospital mission every day.

Virtual series looks at understanding and maximizing happiness and well-being

With record-high rates of burnout, turnover and disengagement in health care, these challenging times require resiliency more than ever. By incorporating and modeling compassion, engagement and kindness, work-life culture can shift to less burnout, greater retention and restoration of happiness, well-being and purpose.

The Power of You: Understanding and Maximizing Happiness and Well-Being is an 11-part virtual series designed to help transform employees into better caregivers and colleagues, which translates to improved patient satisfaction and bottom lines. Presenters will provide specific, practical skills to handle chaos, remain engaged and make the most of the joy in work and personal lives.

Each session will be 30-45 minutes long. Recording will be available for registered attendees to share with their colleagues. Registration will be accepted at any point throughout the series.

Associations release COVID-19 vaccination public service

announcement

The American Hospital Association, American Medical Association and American Nurses Association have released a public service announcement urging the American public to get the COVID-19 vaccination when it is their turn. The announcement stresses that COVID-19 vaccines are safe, effective and help us all as we work together to defeat COVID-19. The effort continues the work the three associations have done over the past year to increase public acceptance of the essential actions to curb the spread of COVID-19, which also include: wearing a mask, practicing physical distancing and washing hands frequently.
