Webinar series addresses pediatric respiratory surge

More children are being treated for RSV, flu and COVID-19. To help nursing, providers and respiratory therapy clinical teams, the Region 1 Regional Disaster Health Response System and the Massachusetts General Hospital Center for Disaster Medicine are offering a weekly webinar series regarding providing care for pediatric patients with acute respiratory illness.

The educational series is comprised of six sessions covering:

- Assessment and management of pediatric patients with acute respiratory illness.
- Disposition planning.
- High-flow nasal cannula therapy.
- Interim management for patients awaiting transfer for hospitalization.
- Noninvasive ventilation for pediatric patients.
- Safe pediatric intubation.

The sessions are scheduled weekly from 11 a.m.-noon from Thursday, Nov. 17 to Wednesday, Dec. 21. Recordings are available after each session.

Prepare for leading in a crisis

Being an effective leader means being prepared to lead during a crisis. IHA's latest Lessons in Leadership webinar will provide hospital leaders with the tools to stay calm while guiding their organizations during a crisis.

Bob McNaney, a crisis management and crisis communication strategy consultant, will offer examples of leadership during a crisis and give attendees opportunities to discuss each example in group discussions.

The webinar qualifies for up to one hour of preapproved American College of Healthcare Executives-qualified education credits and one hour of continuing board education for trustees seeking Iowa hospital board and trustees certification.

The Leading During Times of Crisis webinar is scheduled from 2-3 p.m. Monday, Dec. 12. Email Autumn McGill at IHA with questions.

CMS releases voluntary sample formats for price transparency files

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services released three voluntary sample formats hospitals may use to meet the federal requirement to make certain standard charges publicly available through a machine-readable file. The formats include wide, tall and plain versions.

The agency also posted a sample data dictionary for the wide and tall formats.

Loring Hospital announces interim CEO

Matt Johnson was appointed interim CEO of Loring Hospital in Sac City. He begins his tenure Monday, Nov. 21. He replaces Callie Babcock. Johnson can be reached at mjohnson@loringhosp.org.

New alliance aims to advance patient and workplace safety

The Department of Health and Human Services announced its intent to launch the National Healthcare System Action Alliance to Advance Patient Safety.

Action Alliance participants will share evidence-based approaches to improving patient and health care worker safety through mentorship and peer-to-peer learning. The alliance will include patients, families, health systems, professional societies, insurers and employers.

During the interim as the alliance gets started, the American Hospital Association has released a library of safety resources for hospitals and health systems to use.
